INTRODUCTION

Implementation of programmes, projects and activities for adolescent and youth empowerment is the forte of NYKS.

With the demographic dividend accruing to the country along with the promise of its continuance till 2035, the paramount concern of every training institution and programme-implementing-agency in the government today is to optimize the capacity building programmes for the youth.

Youth being the vibrant and major human resource for strengthening democracy and development, make a strong force for the social and economic transformation of the country. There is a need for a large scale engagement of youth in the socio-economic, cultural and political development of the country.

At the same time it is also necessary to keep up the old tradition of objectifying the value orientation among the adolescent and youth.

Another aspect of the youth socialization in India is volunteerism that must be kept alive in the heart of the new generation that grows from adolescence to the youth age continuously in the life of the nation.

Volunteerism, Organized behavioural response to the community stimulus, and, Networking form the basis of youth programmes that are formed by the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports to empower and develop rural and urban youth.

Capacity building, awareness, life skills and organized action make a strong base of interventions for the youth that the ministry plans and implements through its agencies and bodies.

Nehru Yuva Kendra Sangathan (NYKS) is the premier body of the ministry for initiating such actions with the rural youth of the country. It was established as an autonomous body of the department of youth affairs in the Ministry of Human Resource Development in 1987. Later on, when the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports was established as an independent ministry, NYKS became its flagship programme-implementation organization.

It has since gained strength and outreach to fulfill its objectives of intervention with the rural youth. Regular programme and establishment grants from the government, along with the funds from the National Programme for Youth and Adolescent Development (NPYAD) of Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports, facilitate NYKS to implement its annual action plan carrying various youth programmes in the rural parts of the country.

OBJECTIVES

NYKS was formed with a mission that carries two basic objectives:-

1. To involve the rural youth in nation building activities; and,
2. To develop such skill and values in them with which they should become productive and responsible citizens of a modern, secular and technological nation.

All the youth programmes and activities carry a certain theme to contribute to the objective fulfillment.

YOUTH DEVELOPMENT AND EMPOWERMENT THROUGH YOUTH PROGRAMMES

a. Rural Indian youth and NYKS:-

Nehru Yuva Kendra Sangathan (NYKS) has a country-wide network of village-based Youth Clubs and Mahila Mandals. They are engaged in implementation of programmes and activities for youth empowerment and development. Capacity building, skill development and networking through volunteers are the basic elements of all programmes of Ministry of Youth Affairs & Sports that are implemented through NYKS. Network of 28 zonal offices, 501 district level offices and 1.25 lakh youth clubs in about half of the villages of the country make a strong force of a voluntary movement under the auspices of the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports (MOYAS).

The youth population of a nation forms the building block of the Nation. In India, the youth has played a pivotal role in the freedom struggle, various social movements, and in developmental endeavors in their collective and individual capacity. The youth bulge of the present demographic structure of India makes a very important and promising future force. Hence it is essential that the youth are provided with their entitlements through all sectors of human and physical development. NYKS, through the programmes and schemes provided by the Ministry, attempts to provide yet another dimension of youth development and empowerment especially to the rural, non-student youth who generally stand out of any institutional framework of formal learning or training apart from the few rural schools and colleges.

b. Youth Development and Youth Empowerment -the conceptual basis of the Ministry' schemes and the strategy of NYKS youth work:-

NYKS defines "youth development" and "empowerment" through the conceptual framework of its work in the field where (a) capacity-development, (b) skill-building, (c) value-formation and (d) networking of relationships make a total structure of youth work. Involving youth in nation-building activities and process is another attribute of the youth programmes of the MOYAS that are conducted by the NYKS. Hence, for the NYKS:--

Youth Empowerment is defined as a multi dimensional and multi-disciplinary process (or a set of processes) by which the inherent or cultivated strengths of individuals are honed along with expansion of their relationships with which they generate and grow power for themselves for making right choices and right designs in their individual lives. ¹

On the other hand, the concept of youth development relates to capacity enhancement of the youth, which is mainly the job of the NYKS at the field level.

The above definition also relates itself to the demands of defining the youth work in terms of creating social capital in the country through the youth work of NYKS.

Of the total 1.25 lakh youth clubs, about 100,000 youth clubs are networked with 501 district level offices where multi-pronged linkages are established. These clubs along with NYK offices in the country and 12300 strong National Youth Corps volunteers (earlier National Service Volunteers) collectively and individually have established that the youth clubs are non-profit member-bodies who together form astounding social capital.

As per Administrative Reforms Commission (2nd) Report 9 of 2009, social capital “refers to those institutions, relationships, and norms that shape the quality and quantity of a society’s interaction. It consists of trust, mutual understanding, shared values and behaviour that bind together the members of a community and make cooperative action possible. The basic premise is that such interaction enables people to build communities, to commit themselves to each other, and to knit the social fabric. A sense of belonging and the concrete experience of social-networking and the relationships of trust and tolerance that evolve) can bring great benefits to people.”²

The network of youth clubs with NYKS provides the basic social capital in the rural India that waits further to move more forcefully to adopt the Panchayati Raj in its most essential strengths of participation of the common man in the political and economic process of the country. It is in this sense the work of NYKS becomes more important in the political, economic and sociological contexts of the development and empowerment of youth. That they are a part of the network that provides basic social capital to the country, by itself is a feeling and the stage that is a catalyst to the collective development of the rural youth.

Aside from this, the new programmes that are being introduced in the Annual Action Plan are emphasizing and re-emphasizing the need for skill-development of the rural youth for their employment and self-employment.

NYKS thus makes all out efforts in 501 districts to fulfill its objectives of involving the rural youth in involving youth in all those activities that are essential and that are part of the government policy about the youth, and with which they are empowered to become responsible citizens of a modern, secular and scientifically advancing nation. In the process of youth development, it forms a good amount of social capital that helps the nation in a multifarious forward march.

C. NYKS youth work -a continuum from intervention to a movement

NYKS facilitates the rural youth in forming youth groups i.e. Yuva Mandals and Mahila Mandals through various programme-intervention and capacity building initiatives.

These initiatives are geared towards empowerment and development of the youth groups or youth clubs as village-based rudimentary institutions, and also for the individual growth of the members of these groups.

Youth clubs conduct various programmes for the youth of their areas. The youth are also motivated to combat various local problems and developmental challenges in their respective areas.

They facilitate in expediting people’s participation in ongoing developmental intervention that are being carried out by various governmental and non-governmental agencies.

The youth are also motivated to participate in the process of democratic planning and implementation of various development programmes through Panchayati Raj and other institutions of local governance. Over the years, the number of youth groups has increased in the NYK districts and thus the organization continues to become a mass movement. NYKS progresses best in its dynamic state of a movement in which youth involve themselves in institution building and participating in various processes of nation building. It works for the rural youth, with the rural youth, and reaches out to them through our programmes and voluntary movement.

THE STRUCTURE

NYKS has a four-tier structure.

At the helm is a Board of Governors. Union Minister of Youth Affairs and Sports is the ex-officio Chairperson of the Board of Governors. Director General is the executive head and is responsible for managing day-to-day affairs and activities of the Sangathan. The countrywide network of district level Nehru Yuva Kendras is divided in 28 zones. A Zonal Director heads each zone. He is expected to ensure that the policies and programmes of the Sangathan are properly implemented in the field.

A District Youth Coordinator heads each district level office that is called Nehru Yuva Kendra (NYK). His role is to represent the NYKS to the rural youth and to lead the youth movement in the field. He is assisted by an Accounts Clerk-cum-Typist, a group D staff member, and 8-10 National Youth Corps volunteers, who are deployed for a period of two years as per the scheme of the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports. The district level office (the NYK) along with the NYC volunteers, is the most important tier of the structure where ideas are transformed into reality.

Under the chairmanship of the District Magistrate/ Collector, every district of the state has a District Advisory Committee on Youth Programmes (DACYP). The DACYP guides, supports and monitors the activities of the NYKs. It deliberates on the Annual Action Plan, its guidelines, its time table and approves them. The DACYP also monitors the activities and provides necessary support to the NYK in fulfilling the targets. Constitution of DACYP confirms the representation of major institutions and departments involved in the district development programme and plan of the local administration. This set up is meant to facilitate functional linkages and possible augmentation of resources for effective implementation of youth programmes through the youth clubs in the district.

A number of youth clubs, ranging from 200 to 500 in every district, are registered with NYKs through time-to-time campaigns on the formation of youth clubs. In general, an average of about 100 to 200 youth clubs and mahila mandals in every district have engaged themselves in different programmes over the last ten to fifteen years. In total 1.25 lakh youth clubs are registered with all the NYKs together. About one lakh of these are effectively engaged in different activities every year. Those youth clubs and mahila mandals which are not effective at one point of time become active with a small intervention of activity over a continuum of years.

PROGRESS REPORT 2010-11

Youth Programmes and implementation of schemes related with volunteers and youth development

Three types of programmes are conducted by the field formations of NYKS.

1. Regular programmes;
2. NPYAD programmes; and,
3. Sponsored or Convergence programmes.

Along with the programmes, the NYKS field formations also implement some of the schemes of the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports. These schemes provide some extra programmes and also help in broadening various aspects of youth work. The most important one of the schemes of the Ministry is the National Youth Corps (NYC) scheme. Under this scheme, youth volunteers are selected, trained and are paid a monthly remuneration of Rs. 2500/- per volunteer. Each volunteer, after the training, enhances the value of volunteerism in the NYKS network of youth club and associated volunteer-members. The volunteers also help the district level field formations to conduct the youth programmes as are described below.

The regular programmes are so called because they are uniformly conducted in all the 501 districts or in a particular area with a regularity of their conduct over the years. Some changes are, however, made periodically in view of the new policy thrusts and needs. All the regular programmes are compulsorily included in the Annual Action Plan of each NYK in the country.

The action plan is formed by the NYKS HQs with a good amount of feed back and suggestions from the field. Following factors influence the formation of the Annual Action Plan:-

- a. Field needs of youth development and empowerment programmes; or say, short and long term needs of the youth in society;
- b. Thrust of the needs thus identified vis a vis the contents and imperatives provided in the National Youth Policy;
- c. Planning Commission's areas of concerns for youth development; and,
- d. Available finance.

A copy of the Annual Action Plan is prepared at the HQs and is presented to the Board of Governors (BOG) for their approval. After the AAP is approved by the BOG, it is forwarded to the Ministry for funds. Each Kendra receives required funds to conduct the "regular programmes" which ought to be organized in the field, that is, at the district or regional level in the stipulated period in the financial year.

The Annual Action Plan includes various programmes, activities and events that are structured to fulfill various aspects and levels of objective fulfillment. Some of the prominent programmes and activities in 2010-11 have been:

- Youth Club Contact & Feedback Programme;
- Meeting of Youth Leaders for Planning and Review;

- Youth Club Exchange Programme;
- Capacity Building of Youth;
- Skill Up-gradation Training Programme (SUTP) for women in 200 border/tribal/backward districts;
- Skill Development Training Programme under NCVT scheme in 50 districts covering participants from 200 districts;
- Provision of sports material to youth clubs;
- Block and District level Sports Tournaments;
- Block and District Folk Cultural festival;
- District Youth Awards (Individuals);
- Celebration of important national/ International days and Weeks;
- Shram Daan, i.e. Voluntary labour contribution in the work camps;
- District Youth Convention;
- Documentation and Grant-in aid to youth clubs, etc.

NPYAD programmes are those programmes which NYKS receives from National Programme for Youth and Adolescent Development (NPYAD) scheme of the Ministry of youth affairs and sports. These programmes are not the part of the annual action plan of the NYKs, and are therefore provided to different NYKs by turn or rotation on year to year basis. NYKS writes proposals to the Ministry for these programmes and gets funds to conduct them in the field. NYKS has been receiving the following programmes under this category from the Ministry, and been allotting to the NYKs:-

National Integration Camps (NICs);

Life Skills Education Training camps for adolescents (LSETP);

Adventure camps;

Youth Leadership and Personality Development Programme (YLPDP); and,

Youth Festivals.

Sponsored or Convergence programmes, as the name suggests, are those programmes which the NYKS designs for, or receives from other agencies, departments, Ministries or private commercial companies. These programmes are of variegated nature and are primarily received by the NYKS against its network with the people. The common denominator of them all though is that they are meant to engage volunteerism of the youth connected with our youth club network, and they always carry a useful social theme of value- enhancement, or value-formation, or social awareness, or skill development and self-employment among the rural youth. Funds for all such programmes are received by NYKS from the collaborating agency.

Aside from above, there are certain special events and programmes too which are conducted by NYKS. All such programmes or events are related to the themes of youth development as are given in the National Youth Policy, but are organized with a stress on publicity, general awareness and commitment-declarations about the policies, plans and charters etc. national or state level celebrations of certain specific international and national days rallies and conventions or national workshops on specific themes fall in the category of special programmes. Such programmes may differ from year to year as many of them are related to certain historical occasions too.

Procedure and protocol for the organization of programmes in the field

1. All the regular, NPYAD and sponsored programmes are conducted by the district level field formations called Nehru Yuva Kendras;
2. A financial and procedural guideline is issued by the HQs against each allotment of programme in the field;
3. In the field, the NYK presents the annual action plan of youth programmes and activities (as allotted by the HQs to the NYK) to the District Advisory Committee for Youth Programme (DACYP) that is formed in each district under the chairmanship of the Deputy Commissioner or the officer of the equivalent designation prevalent in the state. The DACYP is formed of development officers and volunteers drawn from the civil society including youth groups. The action plan is discussed and then approved by the government district authorities. Similarly, information and organizational aspects of other programmes are also discussed in the DACYP, and approved.
4. It is mandatory for the organizers in the field to invite peoples' representatives of various levels in the programmes. Resource persons or subject specialists capable of speaking or expostulating on the chosen themes, government officers and stake-holders in civil society are also to be invited. Such imperatives are mentioned in the special circulars or the guidelines prepared at the HQs, or the zonal offices (when the programme is generated out of any zonal office collaboration with another agency or department of the union or state government).
5. Utilization Certificates (UCs) are prepared by the accounts clerk in each kendra after the expenditure on each programme is made, and that is checked and approved by the Zonal Director. The Zonal director makes a consolidated statement of accounts or the UC and sends that to the HQs along with the programme completion and participation reports.
6. UCs pertaining to all other programmes are treated this way.
7. All programme reports from the field must have the qualitative details and statistical data of participation along with media reports.
8. Monitoring of the conduct of the programme is done by the Zonal Director and his team of Deputy Directors.

Details of all the programmes follow in the following chapters.

REGULAR PROGRAMMES

1. Youth Club Contact & Feedback Programme (YCCFP)

Background

The core strength of NYKS lies in its net work of youth clubs. Youth clubs are village-based organizations working for community development and youth empowerment. With the guidance of the local Nehru Yuva Kendra, the village youth form a youth club in their village to institutionalize organized behavioural response to the community. NYKS has been setting up youth clubs in villages across the country since 1972. So far, about three lakh youth clubs have been set up that have a cumulative outreach to around 80 lakh rural youth members of these clubs. NYKS, in one of its periodical self-evaluations this year observed that although about 3 lakh youth clubs were in roll, not all of them were seen to be active, as reported by the field formations. Many of them ceased to operate because of various sociological and economic reasons, or for the sheer lack of leadership. Many others which were in good working order once vanished in attrition. It was therefore felt that there was a strong need for counting the effective and sustained youth clubs and to update the youth club related data base.

Consequent to this observation, NYKS decided to take up a programme, namely, Youth Club Contact and Feedback Programme (YCCFP) in its Annual Action Plan for 2010-11. The expected outcome of the YCCFP was a complete data-base of youth clubs and its effective linkages along with details of activities carried out by the youth clubs. It was decided that this exercise of youth club census would be carried out through National Youth Corps (NYC) volunteers in every Block. A plan was made for their regular visit to the villages and meeting the youth club office-bearers and get the information to fill up the Form made for this purpose. The Form that was required to be filled in by the youth club officials and certified by village officials was carefully designed. It sought to get maximum information required for the youth club census, their existing status, their strength, availability of infrastructure, quality of manpower, expertise, skill level programmes undertaken etc. Another part of the Form contained the village information and was required to be filled in with the information from the villagers when there was no youth club, or when the youth club ceased to exist. The village profile data sought out from the Form included the details of its population, location, support facilities, important persons, health, drinking water, education, sanitation activities etc.

A copy of the Form is included in Annexure 1 of this report.

The exercise

This massive exercise was undertaken in the field by all 501 Kendras of NYKS in seven months starting from 28th may 2010. A team was formed which was headed by Director General and that included officers of all ranks including the district youth coordinators in the field and their Accounts clerks. In addition to this team, about 10,000 NYC Volunteers were included in this process. The programme carried the following components:-

A. TRAINING

i. State Level Orientation of officials about YCCFP and how to fill up Survey Forms:

One Day orientation of Zonal Directors, Deputy Directors & District Youth Coordinators (ACT wherever DYC is holding the additional charge) was conducted in the month of May 2010 at Nainital, Shimla, Jaipur, Bhopal, Patna and Guwahati about instructions for using the Youth Club Survey Forms.

ii. Regional level Orientation Programme of Ex-NSVs deployed as NYC Volunteers (15th May to 20th May 2010)

After State level orientation Programme of NYKS officers, two days Orientation of NYC Volunteers was organized in the month of May 2010 at regional level. The two days orientation programme was focused on briefing NYC volunteers, background of Youth Club Contact & Feedback Programme, its operational Plan and guidelines for filling-up forms and field visit.

iii. Training Programme for NYC Volunteers (1st June to 10th June 2010)

Ten days Induction Trainings of NYC Volunteers (Residential) were organized for orienting them on dynamics and sustainability of youth clubs.

B. YOUTH CLUB SURVEY

- Survey of the Youth Clubs was carried out by the NYC volunteers from 20th of June to 15th September, 2010.
- NYCs prepared & discuss operational plan and time schedule of Youth Club Contact & Feedback Programme separately during their meetings with NYC volunteers.
- NYCs fixed the minimum target in writing to each NYC volunteer to carry out the survey of Youth Clubs.
- During routine visits to the district NYKs (up till 15th September 10), Zonal Directors & Deputy Directors focused their visits on implementation of Youth Club Contact & Feedback Programme. They randomly checked NYC volunteers' visit to the villages and concerned Youth Clubs along with feedback on filling of the Form.
- One NYC volunteer covered in a day only one village which may have one or more youth clubs.
- NYC volunteers submitted filled in Forms (after due scrutiny and rechecking) to their respective NYK once in a fortnight.
- To encourage and accomplish the assigned task of youth club contact programme, the NYC volunteers were given incentives in addition to their monthly honorarium.

C. ON-LINE data entry of youth club survey Forms:-

- Detailed user instructions were given to all NYKs for the correct on-line feeding of data from the Survey Forms;
- The data entered in youth club survey forms was carried out at the Kendra level at web site www.nyks.org. under the active supervision of Zonal Director and Deputy Directors;
- NYKS developed a software required for capturing the data in the forms. All the NYKs were asked to carry out the data entry of all its forms in the online application developed for this purpose.
- A minimum of 20 youth club survey forms were entered daily in every NYK during the survey period;
- Zonal Directors ensured on-line feeding of the data at the NYKs between 15th October, 2010 and 30th November, 2010.

The exercise was spread over about three lakh villages; that means the NYK volunteers visited about half of the total number of villages in the country for obtaining data pertaining to youth clubs and the villages. The process was completed in the stipulated time frame.

D. OUTCOME

As per initial analysis, the network of youth clubs in more or less in an institutional form is reduced to about one lakh youth clubs. Out of the total data base of 251023 youth clubs; only 101203 youth clubs were found to be functional. These active youth clubs are reaching out to about 27 lakh male and 10 lakh female members. Thus, NYKS has now an outreach of around 37.4 lakh youth through its net work of 101203 active youth clubs. While this data requires much data analysis, the initial reports suggest that the initial number is considerably reduced. The entire data base regarding each club and its functionary is available in NYKS electronic system for any reference.

E. FUTURE PLAN

NYKS has undertaken this mammoth exercise across the country and now is in a position to complete the data base. This data-base is extremely important for the youth work of MYAS and also for any convergence issue and effectiveness of reaching a government programme to the people in the rural India. For this purpose the following initiatives are proposed:

a. Strengthening of Youth Clubs:

- Providing adequate infrastructural facilities to the active youth clubs;
- Providing registration support to unregistered clubs;
- Reactivate / revitalize the youth club which are not currently functional;
- Capacity building including training and skill development; and,
- Provision of complete IT infrastructure.

b. Effective utilization of the youth club net work

- Inter club networking in youth clubs of the same block/district state is required to be carried out.
- A national level, state level and district level network of youth clubs is required to be strengthened for effective delivery.
- The synergy of youth clubs of the same districts or state or handling common cause is required to be strengthened.
- Youth club handling specified issues such as sports, culture, agriculture, etc are required to be in effective communicational link with their nodal organizations, so that they can be reached as and when required.

c. Effective programme delivery:

- Youth clubs have been extremely efficient in campaigning and generating awareness.
- Focused programme delivery.
- Youth club can be used for programme outreach to the effective target population.

When the youth club network is strengthened, and it is self-sustaining with good communication among its constituents, then the socially motivated youth working in these clubs would serve as an important source for their effective focused programme delivery.

2. Meeting of Youth Leaders for Planning and Review

Objective of this programme is to apprise members of youth clubs of the NYKS Annual Action Plan and also to inform them about various youth development schemes & programmes.

Another objective of this programme is to strengthen the existing youth clubs with the motive of making them self-sustaining. On every alternate month, the reviews cum planning meetings were organized by District Youth Coordinators.

Six bi-monthly meetings of all Deputy Directors and District Youth Coordinators were also held at the level of Zonal Directors to review the ongoing programmes & activities of NYKs . Constructive interventions were also initiated to plan projects & programmes for youth development, to strengthen the existing youth clubs to enable them to become self-sustainable and to share information about the ongoing schemes and programmes of the government for youth.

Achievements under this programme during the year 2010-11 are as follows:

Year	Target Fixed	Target Achieved	Beneficiaries
			Male	Female	Total
2010-11	2601	2515	118999	53380	172379

*State –wise details of the review & planning meetings are placed at Annexure – 1

3. Youth Club Exchange Programme

Objective of this programme is to enable the young participants to understand the critical role of a youth club or any community based organization towards bringing about change in their own surroundings for promotion of peace & development. The participants should be able to appreciate the living conditions of people of villages situated in different parts of the country; their day to day life; and customs and traditions as well. The participants are motivated to work for the progress and development of their own villages and to keep distance from anti social and anti national elements /groups operating in their area. The participants are expected to imbibe the spirit of nationalism, brotherhood, camaraderie and to develop respect for secular traditions of the Indian society.

In the ten-days' programme, nineteen members of different youth clubs and one escort are included. Male-female ratio is preferred to be 50:50. During the 10 days' programme, the Host Youth Club organizes sports & games, cultural evenings and small campaigns of socially and environmentally useful activities like: tree plantation, work camps, village sanitation drive etc. interactive sessions with village elders and opinion leaders and PRIs where the findings of resource mapping, PRA and Action Plan are also discussed. Besides, out of the 10 days village placement period, a 02 day sight seeing is also arranged by the host youth club. The participants also visit some important/famous places like churches, mosques, temples, gurudwaras, historical sites, academic and technological places and tourist spots.

Achievements under this programme during the year 2010-11 are as follows:

*State –wise details of the programmes are placed at Annexure – 3

5. Skill up gradation Training Programme (SUTP) for women in 200 Border/Tribal/Backward Districts

The programme is aimed at enhancing the vocational skills of women in the border or tribal or backward districts and also at helping them to acquire self-employment. Through these training programmes, vocational skills are given to women. The programme enables women participants to supplement their income in existing occupation, improve productivity and learn new skills for which there is a good demand in the market.

The SUTP programme is run exclusively for women in 200 border/tribal/backward districts of the country. A sum of Rs. 1 lakh is provided to each selected NYK for running a minimum of eleven skill up-gradation training centers. Thirty or a slightly more number of women are enrolled for training. 4. LIFE SKILLS EDUCATION TRAINING TO ADOLESCENTS

Five hundred and twelve life skills education training camps of seven days’ duration each were organized in 128 Blocks of 64 districts that were included in the UNFPA- MOYAS project of adolescent development. Each one of 64 districts received eight training programmes which they divided in both the project Blocks of their district. The training is used to upscale the knowledge and information of participants in matters related to sexual and general health and personality development.

1. The concept of life skills:-

The term Life Skills refers to a large group of psycho-social and interpersonal skills which can help adolescents make informed decisions, communicate effectively, and develop coping and self-management skills that may help them lead a healthy and productive life. World Health Organization has defined life Skills as ‘the abilities for adaptive and positive behavior that enable individuals to deal effectively with the demand and changes of everyday life’. Life Skills address the whole individual and, therefore, can lead to overall sustained life-long behavior change. The life skills approach asserts that if children and young people are provided with the opportunity to learn skills in a supportive environment, they can confidently manage their lives in a positive manner while serving as valuable resources to their friends, families and community.

Effective acquisition of life skills can influence how youth feel about themselves (self-awareness) and others and can enhance their productivity, efficacy, self-esteem and self-confidence. Life skills can also provide means for improving interpersonal relations. Working on the issues of adolescents’ concerns in a collective mode, these 7 days’ Life Skills Education Programme can serve the learning needs of different groups of adolescent.

There are ten life skills which form the basis of these trainings. These are:-

Self Awareness; Empathy; Critical Thinking; Creative Thinking; Decision-making Skill; Problem Solving; Effective Communication Skills; Interpersonal Relationship Skills; and Coping with Stress and Emotions.

2. Objectives of the training:-

All the 512 training camps were organized to achieve the following objectives:-

- Sensitizing over 15,000 adolescents on the issues of life skills;
- Generate among the participants awareness regarding reproductive and sexual health, HIV/AIDS, Gender issues, Career guidance and so on.
- Sensitizing the stakeholders, i.e. parents, teachers, government functionaries, the media, the community, the youth, and the adolescents, about the needs, problems and promises of the latter through sustained awareness building and advocacy.
- To raise the thinking and behavioural levels of the participants so that they feel connected to the family, the community and their peer group in a manner that would generate awareness and power for themselves. They should feel empowered and behave in that manner.

3. Duration of the training programme- Duration of the training programme was 7 days'. The activities were organized in two blocks of the same district. All the trainings were in residential camp form.

4. Target group of the training- The target group for the training program was the rural adolescent between the age group of 10-19 years including those who have not gone to the school or who have dropped out.

5. The strategy adopted during the life skills education training program:- Like in our earlier trainings, the strategy of intervention involved having the participants for full time of seven days and also their parents periodically. Imparting Life Skills education to the adolescents in a rural setting, was directed not only towards the adolescents but their parents and the village as well. It was an extra socialization programme and therefore directed itself in creating new behavior patterns among the adolescents, their siblings and parents.

The training program was executed in non- residential camp of 40 adolescent participants. It incorporated all the activities pertaining to the training. All participants were given lunch in the training.

6. Subject Approach:-

Life Skills Education: The Life Skills education to the adolescent in rural India was taken as a matter of additional socialization (or say, extra-socialization) within the family and the community for an improvement in their perception about their own personality and their individual positions in society. This training about the life-skills leads the participants to formation of a new desired behaviour. As said earlier, in the training of the adolescent through the education of life skills, it was felt necessary that the new education should ride on the new understanding of the local tradition in which the life skills should become fully assimilated, or the skills should articulate themselves on the pegs of tradition. Hence the role of the local institutions like the family, the community, the youth club, and the teen clubs was felt important, and they were involved in the acquisition process of the new skills, as well as in creating the new behaviour among the adolescents.

Sex education including Reproductive and Child health: Sex and Procreation are two of the universally accepted four fundamental functions of the family. These functions within the institution of the family have a universal acceptance on the level of morality, perpetuity of human race, healthy living and healthy behaviour; and are the only universally accepted and acceptable form of sexual activity. Sex education itself is scientific and amoral, and we have tried to provide sex education and the knowledge about HIV and AIDS, personal hygiene with a strong saying of “No” to the pre-marital sex and unsafe sex. With the package of scientific knowledge about the reproductive and Child Health (RCH), and the personal hygiene and the nutrition the adolescents are given the life skills to help them become assertive, confident and capacity to make proper decisions about sexual practice.

Hence our approach towards sex education in the adolescent development programme was “Sex and procreation as the part of universal functions of a family”. This way the prohibitive parts about sex in society were carried out automatically through the sense of responsibility that was associated with the existing institutions. Simple truths of human life, across the time and space, remain the true form of knowledge; and we tried to resort to these simple thought processes.

Who gave the training? District Youth Coordinator, the District Project Officer , the Adolescent Peer Volunteers, and the members of District Adolescent resource Teams have all been trained on Life Skills education training methods and contents by the trainers of Rajiv Gandhi National Institute for Youth Development (RGNIYD). It is the team of these people in each one of 64 districts that gave training to the adolescents. 15360 adolescents participated in all the 512 training camps across the nation in 64 districts.
